tomorrow.

Ravella remarked that the charge was serious and placed charge was serious and praced bond at $10,000. Allison was returned to County Jail to await the outcome of tomorrow's hearing.

ALTHOUGH the state penal code lists the charge as a misdemeanor with a maximum penalty of a $200 fine and six months in jail, the alleged inhuman aspects of the beating prompted Judge Ravella to set the unusually high bond.

Allison has a criminal record dating back to 1952 when he appeared in Juvenile Court on charges of grand largeny, auto theft, shooting with intent to injure, and AWOL from military

County Tax Collection Date Reset

WARREN - Sceond-half real estate tax collections will begin Aug. 3 and end Sept. 1 following a ruling by the Ohio Board of Tax Appeals.

County Treasurer Harold Williams was to have begun collecting taxes June 20 but was allowed to delay the date when the onemonth extension was granted.

THE CHARGE as set by county commissioners for the second half will be $6 million.

The extension was granted at the request of Williams, who also had asked an extension for the first half collections because of recession effects and the resulting delay in payments.

Strangely enough it was her husband who took the initiative to do had asked an extension for the first half collections because of choly.

As he said, "I guess I just got delay in payments."
